Dear author,

I'm happy to report that your submission "The Ecological Insight of Bunga' Lalang Rice Farming Tradition in Luwu Society, South" for the Journal of Ethnology and Folkloristics has been through the first stage of copyediting and is attached to this email. To review the proposed changes and respond to Author Queries, please turn track changes function on.

You can see my suggestions and questions in the Comment section. I hope it is all clear, but there are some issues I would like to clarify in this e-mail.

Firstly, according to our in-house style, we keep the use of foreign-language expressions to an absolute minimum. When absolutely necessary, every expression in languages other than English must be translated or explained at the first mention either in the running text or in Endnotes. I have marked these cases, where explanation or re-phrasing is needed. Also, the term bunga' lalang has been used in two meanings: the ritual and the ritual master. For the sake of clarity, I kept it only in the ritual name and used 'ritual master' as an English equivalent in other contexts. If you wish to replace it with any other expression, you are most welcome to do so!

Secondly, the academic fields of ethnology and folkloristics treat the fieldwork materials with proper respect and thus we must refer clearly to this knowledge in the running text. I added section Sources (before section References) where you can explain in more detail how and when you collected your fieldwork materials. In the running text, we suggest to use the form FM: year number (e.g. FM: 2018-2019) when referring to fieldwork materials.

Thirdly, please also send all the Figures and Photos as separate files. Minimum resolution of 300 dpi or 1200 x 1800 pixels is required – photos copied into Word document are too small for printing quality.

If you are unable to undertake this work at this time or have any questions, please contact me. Thank you for your contribution to this journal.
Many thanks in advance,

Helen Kästik

Dear Magfirah,

I am happy to let you know that we've finished next round of editing. Please see attached language editor's suggestions: please read through this version and let us know if we've inadvertently misinterpreted or misstated your argument in any way.

Also, let's return to the task of illustrations again. To ensure the print quality, all images should have a minimum resolution of 1200 x 1800 pixels. Only Photo 4 responds to this requirement. May-be you have access to original photos? Once they have been entered into word file, the quality becomes too poor. It would be perfect, because otherwise we have to dismiss them, but the photos add ethnographic value to the submission. Also the map is too small.

Please let me know if I can be of any help!

With best wishes,
Helen Kästik
